

Thank you for your recent enquiry.

Unfortunately I am unable to work at the present time as I have recently been diagnosed with Prostate Cancer and am due to commence treatment in the near future.

At this stage it is too early to say how long I will be out of action but if all goes well it is my intention to return to work by August. at the latest.

I will update my website, Twitter, Facebook and Instagram accounts in due course so please keep checking back to see when my coaching diary reopens - see links below:
